
O&O RegEditor released as freeware

Changing or creating new settings on computers is part of the daily routine of every administrator. Berlin-based O&O Software GmbH now releases O&O RegEditor, a freeware application that makes it significantly easier for administrators to work with the registration database.

Berlin, December 11, 2008 – Whether we're talking about the adept home-user or an administrator, O&O RegEditor makes the job easier and quicker. It comes with an eminently user-friendly application, but it is really its portability that makes the life of an administrator much easier. Settings can be saved as favorites in the O&O RegEditor and then loaded onto a new computer using a USB Stick. This enables exported settings to be accessed from any computer.

O&O RegEditor is a component of O&O BlueCon 7

O&O RegEditor is a component of O&O BlueCon 7, and is one of its most powerful tools. O&O BlueCon 7 is the system restoration software from O&O. It delivers a whole range of programs that can restore systems that no longer start, and it is based on the current Windows PE for Vista. O&O BlueCon starts all programs directly from a CD included in delivery, and thereby neatly sidesteps the risk of data loss caused by writing data on the computer, which may occur during a new installation. Now, and for the first time independently of O&O BlueCon, entries in the registration database or user accounts can be conveniently created or changed.

O&O RegEditor simplifies working with the registration database

In addition to the virtue of working regardless of location, O&O RegEditor makes accessing registration databases in Windows systems particularly quick and simple. The intelligent function "Frequently needed key" under Favorites allows for easy retrieval of frequently used keys. A comprehensive range of standard features are also available, all of which are quicker and more streamlined thanks to optimized accessibility and user-friendliness. For example, after a high-precision search is performed, a list of results is displayed, together with the corresponding key paths. In addition, searches are performed without users having to make those irritating confirmations of every interim result.

Functions at a glance

- Simple search function
- Copies of entire branches
- Simplified editing
- Creates, manages, imports and exports Favorites
- Frequently needed keys can be used as preset Favorite
- Navigation with paths and favorites
- Import und export in XML format
- Also works on portable storage volumes
